BUTLER QUIZZED BY COMMITTEE

Testifies His Campaign Budget Totals $3,080,000.

HE OUTLINES EXPENDITURES

Chairman of Republican National Committee Declares the Proposal to Raise $500,000 From Massachusetts Manufacturers Met With His Disapproval—Grundy Letter Also Failed to Gain His Approval, He Says.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, testified before the senate committee probing campaign expenditures that the campaign budget of the Republican party totals $3,080,000.

Butler said that of this sum $2,500,000 is to be used in the national campaign and the balance in the congressional and senatorial campaigns. He said he expected to collect the entire amount before election day.

The Republican chairman outlined in a general way how the money was to be expended. Senator Caraway of Arkansas asked him to explain how the $46,000 allotted to college clubs and the $30,000 allotted to the negroes' bureau was to be spent. Butler said that the money was to defray the expenses of getting out literature, speakers and similar activities.

Senator Caraway asked: "In your judgment, do you think it will take two or three million dollars to run the campaign?" "It makes all the difference in the world what kind of a campaign it is," Butler answered. Butler said he felt that was a fair amount for the conduct of this campaign.

Caraway then asked whether the proposal to raise $500,000 in Massachusetts, Butler's home state, met with his approval. "No, it does not," Butler replied. He explained the proposal to raise $500,000 in that state came from a manufacturer and did not meet with the approval of the national Republican committee. "It was proposed to raise that sum from manufacturers of that state. The proposed $500,000 in Pennsylvania did not meet with his approval either. Butler replied in answer to a question from Lorah.

Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor member of the senate committee, asked Butler whether there was anything to the report that the Republicans were raising huge sums of money to throw into certain states. "There's nothing to that," Butler answered.

Butler then stated that the letter sent out by J. R. Grundy of Bristol, Pa., to raise money did not meet with his approval. The proposal to raise $600,000 in the state was sanctioned, he said.

Butler was dismissed after promising Borah he would supply the committee with a detailed list of all contributions and expenditures within a few days.

George Barr Baker, head of the Republican publicity bureau, was then called and gave details on the expenditures of $437,000 by the bureau. The publicity expenditures through the Chicago office totaled $365,000 and the New York and Washington offices spent a total of $104,000 for publicity purposes, Baker said.

Borah asked Baker whether the total publicity expenditures by the end of the campaign would reach $600,000. "I think it will be under $550,000," Baker answered.

The senate committee was dismissed to meet again at the call of Chairman Borah.

Fireworks is expected when Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, attorney for Senator La Follette, head of the Independent ticket, appears before the committee. La Follette charges the Republicans with raising a slush fund to "swing the election."

Independent national headquarters issued a statement charging that special efforts are being made in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts "to raise the biggest slush fund ever used by the Republican party." A letter alleged to have been sent by George S. Ward, nationally known baker, to all bakers and heads of allied industries in New York state calling for contributions to be sent outside the state to places "where it is needed most" was contained in the statement.

NO MONEY FROM RUSSIA

La Follette Denounces O'Connor's Charge as "Campaign Lie."

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 18.—Charges made by T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the shipping board, that money is being sent from Russia through Mexico to help the La Follette-Wheeler ticket were denied here by Senator La Follette. "So far as campaign contributions or sources of party funds are concerned, I have absolute knowledge and I emphatically deny O'Connor's statement," La Follette declared. "I denounce it as a wilful and malicious campaign lie. It is of a piece with other loose and untruthful statements made by desperate Coolidge henchmen."

La Follette said he had telegraphed Frank P. Walsh, his representative, before the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures at Chicago requesting that he have O'Connor subpoenaed and placed under oath before the committee.

NATION-WIDE DEFENSE RALLY PLANNED

Will Be Staged on Third Annual Navy Day.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The Navy League of the United States, which originated Navy day in 1922, is the chief sponsor for another nation-wide defense rally to be staged Oct. 27, when the country celebrates its third annual Navy day. The sea-fighting wing of the service, not to be outdone by the army, which led the defense test on Sept. 12, has secured the co-operation of President Coolidge, the secretary of the navy, governors of states and leading patriotic and fraternal societies to make the observance a success in every state in the Union.

In cities where there are no league chapter, the American Legion is taking the initiative in securing a full turnout of chambers of commerce and business clubs. Participation by the women of the land will be the special responsibility of the Daughters of the American Revolution, whose organization is being extended into the smallest hamlets.

Bind Guards; Steal Whisky.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 18.—The Guckenheimer distillery warehouse at Freeport, Pa., was entered by thieves, who escaped with bonded whisky valued at $85,000, according to reports made to county authorities. The robbers used two trucks in the robbery and made several trips to and from the warehouse after binding guards. Two alleged members of the bandit gang were captured by Freeport (Pa.) police when they attempted to drive through Freeport with a truck loaded with 18 barrels of whisky.

Pitcher Yde Exonerated.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, quizzed Emil Yde, pitcher of the Pittsburgh Nationals, to ascertain the truth of reports in which Yde was quoted as implicating the Pirates in the recent baseball scandal. Yde repeated his denial of any connection with the statements attributed to him and Landis expressed confidence in the player.

CONVICTION IS UPHELD

Court of Appeals Passes Upon Gary Liquor Case.

FIFTY-TWO PERSONS AFFECTED

Court Holds That Defendants Substituted For the Prohibition Law a System of License That Protected Them From Conviction—Former Officials of Gary and Lake County, Indiana, Among the Defendants.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The conviction of 50 men and women in the Gary (Ind.) dry law case was upheld here by the United States circuit court of appeals. Defendants included Roswell Johnson, former mayor of Gary, Ind., and Louis Barnes, former sheriff of Lake county. They had been sentenced to from 10 days in jail to 18 months in a federal penitentiary and fines of $2,000, and these sentences were confirmed by the court of appeals.

The court held that the defendants had substituted for prohibition a system of license that protected them from conviction. Thirty days are now given the defendants to appeal from the decision. If no appeal is made the mandate for the commitment automatically issues.

All of the defendants in the Gary liquor conspiracy case were sentenced in federal court at Indianapolis on April 28, 1923, by Judge Ferdinand Geiger of Milwaukee, who was assigned to hear the case after a number of the men involved had asked for a change of venue from Judge Albert B. Anderson, the Indiana district federal judge.

The case grew out of the Agnes Szabo, "queen of the bootleggers," trial in 1921, when Herman J. Nyhoff and Daniel Melloy, deputy constables, testified that "a system existed in Lake county by which whisky, confiscated from bootleggers," was divided among the officers of the law or sold and the money divided. Following the conviction of the "queen of the bootleggers" and the two constables, Judge Anderson ordered an investigation of the charges made by Nyhoff and Melloy.

First arrests in the conspiracy came in the fall of 1922, when William M. Dunn, city judge at that time, and Blaz Lucas, an attorney, were apprehended by the federal officers. Then came a series of arrests, which included Johnson, Barnes, Dwight M. Kinder, prosecuting attorney of Lake county, and nearly 50 other defendants.

DONAHEY REPLIES

To Attacks Made Upon His Pardon and Parole Record.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—Replying to an attack made upon his pardon and parole record, Governor Donahey issued a statement declaring "it is easy to criticize prison officials." Stating he was glad Harry L. Davis had raised the issue, Donahey added that his interest comes a little late, as the problem should "have been given a little more attention by him when he was governor."

The trouble with Davis, the governor said, "is that early in his administration he" permitted himself rather willingly to be swept into the granting of an indefensible political pardon, that given to Steve Pentecost of Cincinnati. The governor then reviewed the Pentecost case, and declared that "this one sad experience of my predecessor embittered him, hardened his heart and filled him with fear to the extent that in subsequent cases he frequently ignored the joint pleas of judge, prosecutor and the board of pardon and parole for men wrongfully serving in the penitentiary."

One such case, Governor Donahey said, has been made an issue in the present campaign, that of Arthur Carver of Scioto county, sentenced to life imprisonment. The governor declared that Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, a member of the pardon and parole board under Governor Davis, urged him to pardon Carver and now is condemning Donahey for granting the pardon.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Federal Dope Probe Expected.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—A federal investigation of alleged activities of dope peddlers in the university district is expected to follow action of United States Commissioner Wright, who held Mrs. Josephine H. Howard, 35, proprietress of the Grey Cat Inn, and John S. Munro, 29, of Cuba, Mo., former university student, on charge of possession and sale of narcotics and conspiracy to violate the Harrison narcotic law. They were arrested Oct. 2 after Sam Martin, employed by federal agents, obtained a supply of morphine from Munro. It is charged that arrangements for the sale were made by Mrs. Howard. Bond in each case was set at $2,500.

Decide to Close Schools.

Marysville, O., Oct. 18.—The board of education of York township, Union county, decided to close the schools of that township indefinitely because of lack of funds. A 3-mill levy was submitted to the voters of York township last November for school purposes and was defeated. The board is without funds to operate the schools and will not have any until next February. Five other townships in this county also will vote for extra levies for school purposes in November.

Two Women Hit.

Cleveland, Oct. 18.—Two women were hurled through a window into a drug store by an automobile that got out of control and jumped the curb. One, Mrs. Ella Albertson, 63, was killed instantly, and the other, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hazel Pickford, 28, was seriously injured. The driver of the car, Abraham Kohn, was held on a charge of manslaughter.

Fall Kills Patient.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—Falling from a fourth story window of the administration building at the Columbus state hospital, David J. Edwards, 47, of this city, a patient, was killed instantly. Although no one saw him fall, several attendants heard his body strike the concrete walk below and found him dead when they reached him.

Body Found in River.

Cincinnati, Oct. 18.—The body of Asher L. Pickens, 34, insurance agent, who disappeared last Friday and who is believed by the police to have been slain at the Sunshine fishing camp, on the Little Miami river, was found in the Ohio river below this city. The body had been wrapped in a blanket. The head was crushed.

Physician Killed.

OIL LEASE CASE TO GO TO TRIAL

Counsel Prepared to Press the Government's Suit.

SIXTY WITNESSES SUMMONED

Edwin Denby and Theodore Roosevelt Among Those Who Will Testify in the Suit to Annul the Elk Hill Leases Given to the Pan-American Petroleum Company—Trial to Open Next Monday.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—The first of the oil lease cases will go to trial here next Monday.

Former Senator Atlee Pomerene arrived here from Washington prepared for the opening of the government's suit to annul Elk Hill oil leases given to the Pan-American Petroleum company. With Pomerene, who is in charge of the government's side of the case, are Owen J. Roberts, A. J. Schneider, Lowell Turrentine and George Chandler, his assistants. Pomerene had planned a conference with United States District Attorney Joe Burke, but this was impossible because of Burke's absence from the city.

An estimated amount of $100,000,000 is involved in the litigation, which centers around charges that Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, conspired with E. L. Donahey to defraud the United States.

The defense will contend that the Elk Hill lease was a profitable one for the government. It also will seek to show that the 30,000 acre lease of the Doheny company will be robbed of its value through offset drilling if the government keeps the oil in underground storage.

Sixty witnesses, including Theodore Roosevelt, candidate for governor of New York, and Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy, are expected here to testify.

STATE FAIR DEFICIT

Director Truax Issues Statement in Reply to Attack.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture, in a statement aimed at a recent attack on the financial success of the last state fair, declared that although there is a deficit of $17,000 between receipts and expenditures there were 9,000 fewer free passes issued than during the fair of 1922, held under the Davis administration. In regard to the alleged deficit, the director said in his statement:

"It is true a deficit was incurred, as happened with respect to state fairs under Governors Davis, Cox, Willis and others. Expenditures exceeded appropriations for state fair purposes by $21,000 this year, by $5,000 in 1923; by $15,000 in 1922 (the Davis fair); by $11,000 in 1920. Expenditures exceeded state fair receipts by $17,000 this year, by $17,000 in 1923, and by $37,000 in 1922 (the Davis fair)."

The deficit this year was attributed by Truax to the extensive building program.

LEGISLATION URGED

Welfare Conference Favors Nonpartisan State Welfare Board.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—The Ohio welfare conference at its closing session here adopted resolutions urging the creation of a nonpartisan state board of welfare; establishment of at least two new institutions for the care of the feeble-minded; adequate legislation for a system of adult probation by the next legislature, and establishment in the public schools, where feasible, of special classes for the various types of mentally as well as physically handicapped children.

The plan proposed for taking the state welfare department out of politics is virtually the one for which the Ohio Council of Churches is working. Gardner Lattimer, Columbus, was elected president of the welfare conference. Other officers are: Miss Alice Richards, Cincinnati, first vice president; Lawrence Cole, Cleveland, second vice president; H. H. Shirer, Columbus, treasurer; Howard R. Knight, Columbus, executive secretary. Next year's meeting will be held in Springfield.

Looting Feared.

Shanghai, China, Oct. 18.—Merchants of this city and military leaders discussed plan for disarming and dispersing the 5,000 leaderless soldiers of the defeated Chikiang army. The soldiers are entrenched near the city and looting is feared. Merchants are feeding the starving bands.

DAVIS AT AKRON

Former Governor Details Achievements of His Administration.

Akron, O., Oct. 18.—Harry L. Davis in a speech here detailed accomplishments of his administration and promised additional achievements for the people if elected. Urging all voters to vote for President Coolidge, Davis said his first consideration in the campaign is the president's reelection, and renewed his request that voters be on their guard against any eleventh-hour attacks that might be aimed at him.

"This campaign has been under way long enough for my opponent to bring to light anything he thinks wrong with my administration," said Mr. Davis. "I have been demanding for weeks that the governor come before the people, explain a number of things I have asked and give an accounting. You will recall that four years ago malicious eleventh-hour attacks were made on me and I have been warned such tactics will be resorted to late in this campaign, and I want to warn you against them. Now is the time for presentation of any campaign issue."

To License Auto Drivers.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—A special study of a proposal to license auto drivers in Ohio is being made by the Ohio State Automobile association, President H. Caley announced. He said the legislative committee of the association will investigate the question thoroughly and probably submit the result of its findings to the legislature. To take the reckless and drunken driver from the road, Caley said, the association favors some restrictive law, but not one which would take the right to the use of his property from the ordinary driver.

WILL COST $8,000,000

Prohibition Enforcement in the United States in 1925.

Washington, Oct. 18.—According to estimates by treasury officials, prohibition enforcement in the United States in 1925 will cost the government about $8,000,000. Secretary Mellon regards the present enforcement corps as adequate and feels that unless there is a material change in the situation, no increase in the appropriation will be necessary next year.

Increased facilities in the United States coast guard, including both personnel and fast rum chasers, have succeeded in cutting down the enormous tide of liquor that has swept into the United States during the last two years, according to Mellon. Various estimates have fixed the smuggled liquor at from 250,000 to 1,000,000 cases a month. These figures have been materially lessened in the past month, according to officials.

Missing Student Found.

Arcanum, O., Oct. 18.—Lowell, 20, of this place, missing from Capital university at Columbus since Oct. 5, was found near Ithica, five miles south of Arcanum. He was wandering around the country and appeared as if he has lost his memory. He was taken to the home of his father here.

Seeking Mother-of-Pearl

In Western Australia there are great pearl fisheries where mother-of-pearl, one of the basic materials for buttons, is found. The opalescent shells are graded and sorted before being packed into sacks and crates for export, and there have been times when little pearls, which have evaded the lynx eyes of the "fishers," have been found in the shells when these packages have been unpacked in factories.

RED CROSS YEAR'S COST $21,366,255

Nearly $12,000,000 Devoted to Helping Victims of Great Japanese Earthquake.

OVER 3,000 BUSY CHAPTERS

Aid to Disabled War Veterans Paramount and Reaches Nearly $4,000,000.

Washington.—More than $21,000,000 was the total of funds expended in all activities of the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year, ended June 30, says a statement issued by the National organization. This expenditure was almost one-sixth of the amount of money disbursed by the Red Cross in the war year, July, 1917, to June, 1918. Of this extraordinary sum $11,631,303 was America's contribution to the Red Cross for relief of the Japanese earthquake victims. This was increased to $11,768,803 by appropriations from general funds of the Red Cross, and it represented probably the largest spontaneous outpouring of beneficence of a single nation in the history of the world.

Over 3,000 active Chapters expended during the year $4,869,000, the National organization disbursed $16,497,255.25, making the total $21,366,255.35—all for humanitarian work which reached practically around the world. In announcing the year's record of American Red Cross industry the executive officials at Washington emphasize the fact that the extensive and never-halting work of the Red Cross depends almost wholly upon the nation-wide support of the organization from the memberships enrolled during the annual roll call which this year will be in progress from Nov. 11 to 27, when everyone is asked to join or renew their membership in the American Red Cross.

Soldier Service Paramount

Service in behalf of the disabled veterans of the World War and their families is a paramount obligation of the Red Cross. The organization through its Chapters, is constantly in touch with this duty in 2,609 communities throughout the United States—the Chapters alone during the year expending in service for veterans about $2,000,000. The National organization expended $1,735,825—a total of $3,735,825 applied to assisting war sufferers toward recovery from disability and distress.

This work is constant in hospitals, sanitariums, camps, soldiers' homes, in the community. For example, in helping disabled men and women in places where they were transient residents $173,076 from national funds alone was required to help solve their problems. Every Red Cross service is ever at hand ready to meet the individual need of these men and women.

The enlisted men in the Regular Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps, with their home ties, mean a never-ending Red Cross service which figures cannot fully interpret. In this work a total of $685,285 was applied in meeting an obligation under the Red Cross charter which has been fulfilled for over 20 years.

Domestic Operations Extensive

In the past year Red Cross operations were almost wholly confined to continental United States and the insular possessions. Relief work following disasters called for immediate activities in 192 places and a total of $737,603.87 was spent in this service alone. In 33 major disasters trained workers were kept at the work of rehabilitation for many months.

In carrying on the health activities a total of $444,886.66 from Red Cross national funds, and $808,000 from Chapter treasuries—approximately $1,252,886 in all—was applied, giving some idea of the extent of Red Cross service in the fields of public health nursing, nutrition instruction, and spreading knowledge of personal hygiene and care of the sick in the home.

For advancing the cause of human safety, the First Aid instruction, locally by Chapters and over extensive national territory by the Red Cross instruction car covering trunk line railroads, and in teaching water-safety and increasing the membership of the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, the total cost was $288,234.71, of which $216,234.71 came out of national funds.

Army of Over 5,500,000

The Junior Red Cross in the schools—with over 5,500,000 in its "I Serve" ranks—was aided with $233,510.78 to which it is estimated the Chapters added some $277,000—a total of $510,510.78. In various other domestic activities the Red Cross spent $233,473.19, and the Chapters in their numerous voluntary services expended an additional $1,048,000 during the year.

Foreign obligations, aside from Japan, were met with national funds as follows: Relief of refugees in Greece, $200,887.18; Junior Red Cross projects, $99,579.75; League of Red Cross Societies, $165,000; other insular and foreign work, $221,855.81. The American Red Cross budget for 1924-25 is $4,647,790.85, or $68,286.96 less than the budget for the year ended last June 30.

In good deeds for all peoples in time of distress the American Red Cross never rests. Help this work with your membership dollar—join or Armistice Day.

LA FOLLETTE IS PLANNING CHAOS

Dire Confusion and Defeat of People's Will if Mr. Coolidge Doesn't Win.

As the campaign nears its close, more and more marked attention is being given to the situation which will exist if the Socialist-Third party ticket is able to draw sufficient strength away from the Republican and Democratic tickets to prevent the candidates of either of the great parties from having a majority of votes of the electoral college.

The candidate of the Socialist-Third party, Senator LaFollette, is well aware that he has not the least chance of election to the Presidency. His hope is to prevent Coolidge from procuring the necessary electoral votes to put him in the White House again.

In this way the thing for which LaFollette has long pretended to stand—government by the people through their expressed will—would be defeated, and a handful of radical senators, holding the balance of power in the senate, would determine who would be the next President of the United States.

Any failure of the electoral college to give Coolidge a clear majority would mean plunging the country into a condition of confusion where business would languish, industry would stagnate, and the nation would probably be in chaos and panic. For one thing, the congress would not make a move to name the President for more than three months after election day. No move can be made until it is officially found that the electoral college has failed to name a President. This would not be until three weeks before the date on which the present administration dies.

Would Thwart the People's Will.
In the interval between election, on November 4, and February 11 next, when the formal report of the electoral college is made, there would be doubt and confusion, stagnation of business and industry, disruption of labor and transportation—in a word, chaos.

The only outcome of the election, being thrown into the congress, which seems at all likely to political observers, is that a man would be named for President and assume that office for whom not a single vote was cast by the American people. That is because the house of representatives cannot, as it is constituted, name a President, and the senate would name a vice president who would automatically become President on March 4.

The present house of representatives, composed of members elected two years ago, would ballot upon the President. In this balloting each state would have but one vote. Thus, although New York may be carried by Coolidge by a million majority, its one vote would go to Davis in the house, because two years ago 22 Democrats were elected to the house from New York and only 21 Republicans.

Another thwarting of the whole basic idea of popular government is brought about by throwing the election into the congress. New York, which four years ago, when the last federal census was taken, had more than 10,000,000 inhabitants, has only the same vote in balloting for President as Nevada, then credited with a population of between 77,000 and 78,000 people.

How It Would Go in the Senate.
The situation in the senate is practically the same. There, of course, the balloting is for vice president, and the balloting is done independent of the house action. There is this difference, however. The house votes for the three candidates receiving the highest vote in the electoral college, whereas the senate is limited to voting for the two highest candidates—doubtless General Dawes and Charles W. Bryan. But in the senate, too, regardless of the population of the several states represented, each state has the vote of its two senators, and a bare majority—49—is necessary to name the new vice president. Here, again, Nevada is as strong as New York, and New Mexico as strong as Ohio.

In the senate each senator has a vote, rather than each state, and as there are two senators for each state, the majority necessary to a choice of a vice president is 49. There are now, nominally, 50 Republican senators, Senator Colt of Rhode Island having died recently. Of the Democrats, there are 43, and two senators—Magnus Johnson and Hendrick Shipstead—are listed as Farmer-Laborites. Johnson has already announced that in the voting between General Dawes and Bryan, he would vote for Bryan.

Of the nominal Republicans, LaFollette and Brookhart and probably a few others who will follow LaFollette will hold the balance of power. In the hands of this pitiful minority rests the naming of the next President of the United States if the election is not a clear victory for Coolidge in the electoral college. In this way popular government would be defeated in its basic purpose by men whose whole cry has been for the rule of the people.

Thus it develops that a vote for Davis or a vote for LaFollette is in reality a vote for Bryan. Of the three candidates only a vote for Coolidge remains a vote for Coolidge, and not for somebody else.

In the final analysis it comes down to just this:
Coolidge—or chaos.

New Gas Rate Schedules Filed.

Columbus, Oct. 18.—Fifty-one Ohio towns and cities and eight rural divisions are affected by the proposed new gas rate schedules filed with the state public utilities commission by the Logan Gas company. If allowed the new schedules will abandon the present minimum charge. No reasons for the proposed change are set forth by the gas company.

BEAUTIFUL BLOSSOMS

Flower Farm of Dr. B. R. Bales

Twenty-Two Acres Given up to the Culture of Gladioli, Pansies, Iris and Tulip.—Hundreds Daily Visit and Admire Nature's Wonderful Display.

Right at your very doors is one of this state's most beautiful and probably largest farms devoted exclusively to the raising of flowers. This is about nine miles northeast of the city on the Ringgold-Cedar Hill road. Hundreds of visitors from nearby towns visit this farm daily and especially on Sundays. The drive to the farm is picturesque and over one of the best roads in the county.

Twenty-two acres are given up to the culture of gladioli, pansies, iris and tulips. Eight men were seen at work gathering gladioli bulbs Friday when we visited the farm.

The beautiful blooms which radiated like a kaleidoscope of prismatic color from the points of the triangular shaped farm was most beautiful to behold. The sight is most pleasing to the eye and visions of loveliness greet you on all sides. One would not think so much floral beauty could be contained in so small a space. Row upon row of dahlias, some of the choicest varieties that it has ever been our pleasure to see are there. We thought we were acquainted with Dr. Dahl's favorite flower, the one he discovered on his travels in South America, but we now acknowledge that the field of dahlias we saw Friday was a revelation. There they stood, sixteen thousand strong, many rows of bloom, 425 varieties while acres of the most beautiful dahlias we ever saw. Men were busy among the pansies weeding. There are eighty-five thousand of these little smiling blooms and this winter they will receive a blanket of straw to protect them from Jack Frost and the heavy mantle of snow; but when gentle spring comes they will peep out from their covering and see if they can come out and fill the earth with gladness, with their fragrant scent and beautiful flowers.

On another side of the field are two hundred varieties of iris. This flower is now dormant, but in June time, it comes into its own and its bloom is much prized.

In still another field is a bed of tulips of one hundred varieties. Dr. Bales is experimenting with these this year and will plant ten thousand bulbs.

CONCENTRATION

Choose Your Work and Give it Complete Devotion and Ability.

An eminent American psychologist recently emphasized in a public statement the importance of thoroughness in the scheme of human progress. His advice could be epitomized in the following paragraph:

"Do not scatter your mental forces. Concentrate on those lines of endeavor in which you naturally excel. Thoroughness will get you further along the way toward your goal than versatility. This is the age of specialization. Choose your work and then give to it your complete devotion and ability."

Not doing things well is about as bad as not doing them at all. This is one of the lessons of thrift. Superficiality is the cause of many a personal failure in life. It is one phase of thriftlessness. The problems of life are so large and complex and the range of human endeavor so far-reaching that effective individual effort must be restricted to certain definite and somewhat limited lines.

There is an old proverb to the effect that "the fellow with one idea generally grows rich, while he who calls him a fool dies poor."

It is enough to have succeeded well in just one thing. It is better to attain worth-while results in a single department of life than to have tried many things and failed in all.

Do not be a jack-of-all-trades. Be thorough in whatever you undertake. Merely skimming the surface is self-deception. Learn to do your job so well that one else can do it well as you can. In due time the opportunity will come for greater tests and responsibilities. It is in this way that the processes of progress unfold.

It is good thrift to concentrate and give the best that is in you. Men who do these things are among life's successes.

AMUSEMENTS

An unusually strong combination of talent has been assembled by Paramount for the Victor Fleming production, "Code of the Sea," which comes to the Met theater next Monday to remain for two days.

Rod La Rocque and Jacqueline Logan are featured in the principal roles.

LaRocque, because of his signal successes in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," "Triumph," is regarded on all sides as having "arrived." Miss Logan likewise has received popular approbation for her work in such photoplays as "The Light That Failed," "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." Both of these were George Melford productions.

These two artists personify all of the romance and fire of youth and hope. In this production the combination of their abilities results in new triumphs for both.

Besides these two luminaries, the cast of "Code of the Sea" includes Maurice Flynn, George Fawcett, Luke Cosgrave, Lillian Leighton and Sam Appell.

Byron Morgan, author of many of the stories, which starred the late Wallace Reid, wrote "Code of the Sea" especially for Paramount production and it was scenarized by Bertam Millhauser.

LITERARY DIGEST

Poll Shows Coolidge Has Commanding Ideal in Presidential Race.

The Literary Digest's poll now represents the election attitude of 1,903,004 voters, of whom 1,066,214 are for Coolidge, 384,205 for Davis and 432,660 for La Follette. It is said that similar polls previously taken by this magazine have showed a margin of error, as compared with the actual election returns of about 10 per cent in favor of the Republicans, due to the fact that there are that many more Republicans than Democratic names on the lists which the Digest uses in sending out its ballots. If this allowance for error is made in the present poll, Coolidge still has a commanding lead.

Of course a candidate might have a large advantage in the popular vote and still not have a majority in the electoral college. At present, in the Digest poll, La Follette is leading in one state, Wisconsin; Davis in 11, all in the south, and Coolidge in all the rest, including all the states of the northwest except Wisconsin. In a few states, notably California, Kentucky, West Virginia and Oklahoma, it looks like a rather close contest with a chance for La Follette in the first mentioned state and for Davis in the others.

With generous allowance made for possible error, the poll at least shows a strong trend toward Coolidge and indicates his election, tho of course it actually proves nothing. People who think The Literary Digest deliberately set out to help the Republicans by this poll and that it represents merely so much propaganda are much mistaken. For one thing, the reputation of the magazine makes that idea untenable. For another, it could not afford to risk looking like a fool after November 4.—Ohio State Journal.

Jackson's Masonic Record Lost.

General Jackson was a noted Mason of the War of 1812, and it is claimed that he received his Masonry in an army lodge. As a matter of fact, no absolute record has ever been found of when and where Andrew Jackson was made a Mason. He afterward became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee. It is believed that the records of a lodge in Tennessee which were burned years ago would show it.

Blame for Failure

Every man is the architect of his own fortune. If successful he seldom fails to claim full credit. If unsuccessful he, too, blames the other fellow. But the rule works both ways, for every man who falls is in some measure responsible for his misfortune.—Grit.

EDWIN D. RICKETTS

Republican Candidate for Congress

My record in congress for service to one and all alike is generally known by the electorate of this district. If returned to congress by your suffrage, I will render faithful and conscientious service to all.

I am for the actual and substantial reduction of taxes and real and effective economy, and for such legislation as will advance, promote and protect the interests and welfare of the common people.

In my judgment there should be less politics and more efficiency in official service in the congress of the United States.

The people deserve the highest quality of public service from their representatives in congress, and if elected my time and ability will be devoted to the advancement of their welfare and the protection of their interests.

I will appreciate your support and influence.

KEEPING WELL

SUPPLYING LOST HUMAN PARTS

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

SURGEONS, today, make new noses and fingers from other parts of the patient's body. The time may come when you can get a new hand or a new foot as easily as you now buy a pair of gloves.

How would this be possible? By saving the healthy parts of the bodies of persons killed by accident and grafting them on to the bodies of persons who have lost these parts. The difficulty does not lie in the grafting but in the possibility of preserving life in the bodily structures for an indefinite length of time.

Incredible as it may seem, a beginning has actually been made. Eight years ago, Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute took the lining membrane of a hen's egg and put it into a normal salt solution in a vessel where the heat was automatically regulated. That membrane is still alive and growing. This is the only instance in which living matter has been kept alive outside of the animal body.

Carrel was sent over to France early in the war to work out a method of treating infected wounds. Working with Dakin, an English chemist, he devised what is now known as the Carrel-Dakin solution, by which polluted wounds could be made so clean that they healed, as surgeons used to say, "by first intention."

Carrel says that the methods by which he kept alive the chick's membrane were developed to a point where entire members of the human body may be kept in a state of suspended animation.

When a young and healthy man is killed by a street car or an automobile, when a brick falls and strikes a passerby on the head, causing death by the injury of some vital part, the rest of the body may be in perfect health. Why not use the sound parts of these bodies to restore the damaged parts of people otherwise healthy?

The day may come when every large city will have an anatomical cold-storage warehouse in which hands and feet, arms and legs, ears and noses will be preserved. Then the crippled man can tell the surgeon, "I want a left foot, size 6 1/2, grafted on to take the place of the one I have lost."

Does this seem impossible? It isn't a bit more so than things done every day would have seemed to the surgeon of a hundred years ago.

Among the purchasers of perfume, lilac is said to hold first place as the favorite scent. Violet is a close second. White rose and cologne water have entirely lost their great prestige of other days.

Speed of Man and Horse

It has been estimated that the average man walks about four feet a second, and that in an hour he covers three miles. A horse trots ten feet a second, or seven miles an hour.

PROSPECTOR PLANS TO USE AIRPLANE

Radio Will Also Serve in Diamond Fields.

New York.—Diamond mining in the mountain jungles of British Guiana by means of airplanes and radio is the new venture disclosed recently by James T. Rogers, explorer and diamond prospector of British Guiana, and Dr. A. L. Clark of Toronto, aviator. Mr. Rogers is here to organize the expedition, which will start probably later in the year and consist of ten members, including one additional aviator, one radio operator and two commercial geologists and engineers. The South American has been into the backlands of British Guiana many times and owns several mineral concessions there. His determination never to go back unless he could go by airplane was reached during his last trip, when, on the way, every member of his party but himself was lost and $17,000 worth of diamonds sank to the bottom of the Mazaruni river.

At the present moment his brother, John Rogers, with one companion has been lost for several months in the jungle and has been reported as dead. As the results of his last trip, William Lewis, mining engineer of Leamington, Ontario, lies buried at Enachun, and Henry Geneiss, engineer, of Bedford, Mass., lies at Bartica Grove. Both died of exposure to tropical conditions while they were being taken back to civilization in the effort to save them.

"Despite the treasures of the backlands of British Guiana, which were reported as far back as Sir Walter Raleigh's time, conditions are such that there is no rush of prospectors similar to the Klondike," Mr. Rogers said. "Yet there are men who brave the great hardships of the trip, and government reports show that considerable wealth in diamonds has been brought back from the hills."

"One of the by-products of our airplane investment is going to be transporting other prospectors back and forth from the coast to the mountains. We feel that we shall have as much carrying work as we can handle in the transportation end of our venture."

Scientists Investigate

Queer Orkney Fauna

Kirkwall, Scotland.—The Orkneys, always a source of delight to scientists, has this summer been the playground for a party of Edinburgh zoologists.

The investigators spent much time in tracing the development and learning the habits of a little-known species of water sheep which is found only near the island of North Ronaldshap.

These animals feed on seaweed and inhabit the beaches of the island. Nature developed for them legs from eight to ten inches longer than those of a normal sheep, which allows them to wade for food. As a result of their unusual diet their meat has a salty taste, their wool is particularly coarse and strong, and they grow larger than normal sheep.

The zoologists are also studying the so-called "sea anemones," found only in the Orkneys. These as yet are unclassified and have no scientific name. They grow on rocks and when covered by water open and spread out circles of leaves like dandelions, but when the tide is out they fold up and almost entirely disappear.

Yet they are not flowers, as their habits indicate a carnivorous animal existence. They kill their victims by poison and then devour them, and their leaves act as tentacles to grapple food.

Swedish Forests at Par After Thousand Years

Stockholm.—Sweden's work of forest conservation has managed to keep the lead in the neck-to-neck race with the rapidly increasing output of industrial products, according to a governmental report, in which the statement is made that Sweden has "an inexhaustible gold mine in her forests."

This assurance is regarded as of great importance to the nation, since about 60 per cent of its exports consist of lumber, wood pulp, paper and other forest products. In 1923, these exports alone amounted to a value of about $183,000,000, and in the 12 months ended last June upward of $19,000,000 of Swedish wood pulp was shipped to paper mills in the United States.

The forests in Sweden, which have been drawn upon for commercial purposes for at least 1,000 years, now cover about 52 per cent of the total land area of the country, and consist principally of spruce and pine.

Young Chicks Eaten by Missouri Frogs

Columbia, Mo.—The newest menace to chicks in this section are the bullfrogs, who are getting so large that they can swallow medium-sized fryers. This was discovered by Clarence Makin and Ernest Jones, who killed about 18 bullfrogs at John Gilbert's lake the other day.

On dressing two of the frogs they discovered they had swallowed chickens almost the size of quail.

The Guitar.

The guitar is an instrument of six strings, viz. E, A, D, G, B, E. The strings, if sounded together, would not make a chord according to the rules of modern harmony. It is not a difficult instrument to learn and its chief use is in accompanying another instrument or the voice in singing.
